

Introductory:

Originality and sincerity in efforts while carrying out any research activity are essential to have a qualitative, creative, innovative and productive outcome thereof. Plagiarism stands as a big barrier in the way of quality research. It is necessary to get rid of this problem by promoting efficient research culture. The institute believes in the principle of authenticity and originality with regard to any research activity carried out by the teachers and the students. Accordingly, it is committed to prevent any sort of plagiarism in the research works done by the teachers and students. The institute has set up the College Research Committee to monitor the research activities. The said committee gives necessary instructions to the all the researchers at the institute to strictly refrain from any act of plagiarism and suggests taking the help of online plagiarism detecting software to ensure that their research works possess almost complete authenticity and originality. In addition, the teachers and the students are directed to get their research works published in reputed UGC recognized and peer-reviewed journals to avoid any amount of plagiarism.

Code of Ethics to check malpractices and plagiarism in Research

The institute, through the College Research Committee, has framed a code of ethics to prevent malpractices and plagiarism in research in order to enhance its quality and maintain authenticity in it. The following code of ethics in terms of guidelines are provided to teachers and students to promote transparent and original research works and to maintain the reputation of the institute intact.

- Plagiarism is a theft of somebody else's work or a part of work and the presentation of the same as one's own.
- To avoid any sort of plagiarism, the teachers and students are strictly directed to be conscious of the rules and regulations about the conduct of research study, assignments, thesis, dissertations, projects etc.
- To take the advice and suggestions of the College Research Committee regarding any issue related to plagiarism
- To make the use of online plagiarism detecting software to examine the authenticity and originality of their research work on their own
- The teachers must analyse and scrutinize the research activities carried out by the students to ensure maximum originality
- To follow the guidelines issued by the College Research Committee to prevent plagiarism and other malpractices in research.
- The College Research committee shall scrutinize the research activities
- Before forwarding the research works to any publisher or journals or seminars and conferences, the teachers and students are directed to obtain prior permission of the College Research Committee.
- It is the personal responsibility of each teacher and student to keep their research free of any sort of plagiarism.
- Plagiarism on anybody's part is highly objectional and impermissible.
- Anybody found guilty of plagiarism is subject to proper action depending on the severity of plagiarism.
