Student Satisfaction Survey 2022-23

The Student Satisfaction Survey for the Session 2022-2023 was conducted online through a Google quiz in bilingual mode (English and Marathi). The overall response rate was 40% of the admitted students. The survey results are summarized as follows:

The respondents were 45% male and 55% female, almost reflecting the institution's admission ratio. They were also 51% undergraduate and 42% postgraduate students, from all three faculties of Arts, Commerce, and Sciences. Teaching and Learning: Students from all faculty responded (97% ) for maximum coverage of syllabus. 88.5% of respondents said that the teachers were prepared to teach while 73% of respondents said that the teachers communicated effectively. A 90% of respondents said that the teachers taught in a good to excellent way. The student found internal evaluation process as fair (93%) while 82% of respondents said that the teachers discussed their performance on assignment work regularly. Above 74% of respondents said that the institution promoted internship, student exchange, and field visit opportunities regularly or often. 85% of respondents said that the institution promoted teaching and mentoring processes that facilitated their cognitive, social, and emotional growth as well as 88% of respondents said that the institution provided multiple opportunities to learn and grow.

Regarding competencies and PO/Cos, 88% of respondents said that the teachers regularly informed them about their expected competencies, course outcomes, and program outcomes. 86% of respondents said that the teachers followed up regularly with them on assigned tasks and teachers illustrated concepts through examples and applications (86%). About 84% of respondents said that the teachers identified their strengths and encouraged them with the right level of challenges while 80% of respondents said that the teachers identified their weaknesses and helped them to overcome them. Regarding institutional support, 85% of respondents agreed that the institution made efforts to engage students in the monitoring, review, and continuous quality improvement of the teaching-learning process as well as 89% of respondents agreed that the institute and teachers used student-centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning, and problem-solving methodologies, to enhance learning. Further, 88% of respondents agreed that the teachers motivated them to participate in extracurricular activities where as 81% of respondents agreed that the institution and teachers inculcated soft skills, life skills, and employability skills to make them ready for the world of work.

Responding to use of ICT, 78% of respondents said that most of the teachers used ICT and related tools, but some major difficulties were poor network connectivity and the non-affordability of Android phones by rural students for academic activities. Overall, 90% of the students surveyed agreed for the good quality of teaching-learning process in our institute. The survey results suggest that students are generally satisfied with the teaching-learning process at the institution. However, there are some challenges such as affordability of android phones by students, poor network in remote areas (villages), frequent light-outs, etc that limits maximum utilization of ICT tools by our students, while we address that by providing campus WiFi and NRC Computes with Internet to overcome some of the challenges faced by students.
